

Food for our Front Lines

UMB to Order Food from Local Businesses and Provide Free Lunch to Employees Working on Campus During the COVID-19 Pandemic

Your generous support can help more than 200 University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB) employees working on the front lines of the novel coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic and help support local businesses hit hard by this crisis in West Baltimore!

At UMB, everyday heroes are risking their lives, and the lives of loved ones, to keep our campus safe and operational. Many are working in minimum-wage jobs and in extreme conditions. Now, due to the closure of local restaurants and food venues, there is nowhere for these vital workers to eat during work hours.

Because of this unprecedented hardship, we are collecting donations to purchase essential meals for UMB front-line workers. All gifts will make an impact! A donation of $12.50 will provide a meal for one of the 200-plus employees working daily at our University. If you wish to make an even greater impact and feed more individuals, we welcome your generosity!

This much-needed support will directly support local businesses in the West Baltimore community as they struggle to remain operational and survive this pandemic. This community simply cannot afford for these businesses to close their doors. These merchants not only provide vital services to West Baltimore residents and the greater UMB community, but provide employment for many.

Join the Food for our Front Lines effort! Invest in the heroes of UMB while supporting our valued neighbors.
