Howdy –

A week with a lot of stuff!

1. Transitions
 - a. This week we welcomed Christina Pabon-Buck and Chynnea Ford to the HSHSL. Christina will be working as a Research and Education Librarian in partnership with Andrea Shipper at the School of Medicine. Chynnea is our new HR specialist and boy are we glad to have both of them! Only 10 or 11 (depends on how you count the vacancies) more positions to fill! I hope Chynnea comes back next week.
 - b. Katie Hand, our Reserves Coordinator, has left the Information Services team – I will leave it to Everly to share what she will do. Liz Waltman has left the RML to go to Lycoming College. Jarrod Irwin will be leaving the RML at the end of next week for a position at Eastern Michigan University. Tony Smith is no longer employed by the HSHSL. And finally, Aphrodite Bodycomb will be transferring over to UMBC on July 19. Lots of movement!
2. I hope you saw my all601 email earlier this week regarding the ongoing transition of the HSHSL into a more open environment as many COVID restrictions are lifted. That was based on last week's email from Steve Deck that announced the lifting of the masking and distancing July 1. The biggest thing for us is reopening all floors of the library – otherwise hours, etc remain the same. And of course, if you are more comfortable with wearing masks in public spaces, please do so! There will be many more changes in mid-August.
3. Thanks to everyone who has responded to the Working Survey. Anna-Marie sent a reminder yesterday and you have until July 2 to complete.
4. Make sure you take a look at the HSHSL Cicada. It won't be with us forever so like the real cicadas, enjoy it now.

5.

And some humor:

THE FACT THAT THERE'S A HIGHWAY TO HELL
AND ONLY
A STAIRWAY TO HEAVEN
SAYS A LOT ABOUT
ANTICIPATED TRAFFIC NUMBERS

Types of Knives

Paring knife

Small knife perfect for chopping veggies or hiding in a coat sleeve for self-defense.

Carving knife

Gives a smooth, clean cut. Good for taping to a bunch of Roombas so you can watch them fight to the death.

Steak knife

All-purpose table knife. Try holding a few between your fingers and yelling, "I AM WOLVERINE" until your waiter asks you to stop.

Fish filleting knife

Good for cutting fish. Bad for trying to juggle in your kitchen to impress a date.

Boning knife

THROW ONE OF THESE AT A DARTBOARD IT WILL BE COOL!

Soup knife

Used for cutting soup. Haha nah jk soup is a liquid! I'm just goofing - this is for bread.

Switchblade

These are illegal. If you use one of these to slice a ham then I WILL REPORT YOU TO THE HAM POLICE (seriously, don't do it).

Stone Dagger

Used for performing forbidden rituals in the woods at midnight.

Cutlass

This is technically a sword, but you can use one to put mayo on a sandwich or whatever.

And that is how I get so much accomplished!

Have a great weekend everyone – stay safe and well!
