

May 19, 2022

Dear UMB Community,

Today's the day! Commencement is a day full of joy and hope, knowing that our University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB) graduates are ready to do the work we have prepared them to do: improving the human condition and serving the public good. I am so pleased that we can be together to celebrate this important milestone. Congratulations to the Class of 2022!

I invite you to press play above and watch the UMB graduation video featuring students sharing their thoughts about the resilience and perseverance of the Class of 2022. Please enjoy the video — and share it, tagging your celebration messages with #2022UMB.

Commencement will be livestreamed starting at 9 a.m. today on UMB's commencement homepage at umaryland.edu/commencement.

I join the entire UMB family — faculty, staff, students, alumni, and the local community — in celebrating the accomplishments of the Class of 2022! We look forward to seeing what you do next.

Sincerely,

Bruce E. Jarrell, MD, FACS
President

This note was authorized for distribution to the University of Maryland, Baltimore community by the Office of the President.

Follow UMB:

