

Journal of Workplace Behavioral Health

Volume 36, 2021

Issue 1

JWBH: Letter from the editors

Jodi Jacobson Frey PhD, LCSW-C, CEAP & Darcy Clay Siebert PhD
p. 1-7

Male and female witnesses of mobbing: Gender difference in experiencing consequences. A cross-sectional study in an Italian sample

Daniela Acquadro Maran, Massimo Zedda & Antonella Varetto
p. 8-23

Occupational identity, work, and burnout among managers: Do high performance human resource management practices play a moderator role?

Salima Hamouche & Alain Marchand
p. 24-47

How do work organization conditions affect job performance? The mediating role of workers' well-being

Annick Parent-Lamarche, Alain Marchand & Sabine Saade
p. 48-76

Links connecting nurses' planned behavior, burnout, job satisfaction, and organizational citizenship behavior

N. Gökhan Torlak, Cemil Kuzey, Muhammet Sait Dinç & Taylan Budur
p. 77-103

Issue 2

EAP evaluation 2010–2019: What do we now know?

Rick Csiernik, Mikaeli Cavell & Ben Csiernik
p. 105-124

Work-related stressors and suicidal ideation: The mediating role of burnout

Marie Andela
p. 125-145

Moving forward to social workers' work engagement: Framing the regulatory modes and the job demands-resources model

Alessio Tesi

p. 146-158

The role of lifestyle on NHS ambulance workers' wellbeing

Lucy C. Hutchinson, Mark J. Forshaw, David McIlroy & Helen Poole

p. 159-171

The History of Employee Assistance Programs in the United States

by Dale A. Masi, USA, The Employee Assistance Research Foundation, 2020, 156 pp., ISBN: 9798650318576

David Sharar

p. 172-174

Issue 3

Workplace Behavioral Health Response to COVID-19: Letter from Editors for Special Issue of Journal of Workplace Behavioral Health

Jodi Jacobson Frey PhD, LCSW-C, CEAP & Darcy Clay Siebert PhD

p. 175-176

The COVID chronicles: An Employee Assistance Program's observations and responses to the pandemic

Daniel Hughes & Acanthus Fairley

p. 177-196

Employee Assistance Program response and evolution in light of COVID-19 pandemic

Gregory P. Couser, Jody L. Nation & Mark A. Hyde

p. 197-212

Providing emotional and psychological support to nursing mothers through Chevron's response to the COVID-19 pandemic

Sara Kashima, Brian Walker & Angie Stephens

p. 213-221

COVID-19 psychological impact during the Italian lockdown: A study on healthcare professional

Calogero Lo Destro & Corinna Gasparini

p. 222-237

Psychological impact of COVID-19 among frontline financial services workers in Bangladesh

Rezwanul Hasan Rana & Ariful Islam

p. 238-249

Pandemic-related work status is associated with self-reported increases in substance use

Krista Howard, Timothy J. Grigsby, Kelly B. Haskard-Zolnierok, Rebecca G. Deason & Jeffrey T. Howard

p. 250-257

Issue 4

Job-related stress and tobacco smoking: A systematic review

Zahra Khorrami, Farzaneh Zolala, AliAkbar Haghdoost, Ali Sadatmoosavi, Ziyad Ben Taleb, Anthony Kondracki, Kenneth D. Ward, Mohammad Shahbaz & Mohammad Ebrahimi Kalan

p. 259-277

Onsite screening and enhanced EAP counseling improves overall health, depression, and work outcomes: Four-wave longitudinal pilot study at a community health center in Vermont

Mark Attridge & Steven P. Dickens

p. 278-308

An exploration of work-related experiences of domestic workers in Accra, Ghana

Matilda Botchway Hodzi, Francis Annor & Ernest Darkwah

p. 309-334

Job demands and psychological well-being among Gabonese civil servants: The mediating role of perceived organizational support

Joseph Medzo-M'engone

p. 335-350

Understanding the etiology of workaholism: The results of the systematic review and meta-analysis

Modesta Morkevičiūtė, Auksė Endriulaitienė & Mykolas Simas Poškus

p. 351-372