To assist us with our advocacy efforts, AACN requests that schools of nursing complete the above information. The Nursing Workforce Development programs, authorized under Title VIII of the Public Health Service Act, support the supply and distribution of qualified nurses to meet our nation's healthcare needs. Title VIII programs provide the largest source of federal funding for nursing education.

Every fiscal year, Congress appropriates funding for the Nursing Workforce Development Programs. In order to ensure that the funding levels for Title VIII programs increase during a national nursing and nurse faculty shortage, it is essential that Members of Congress hear from their constituents about the importance of these programs. Therefore, the data we are collecting will be shared in the aggregate form with members of Congress and their staff to illustrate how on a state and national level, schools and students benefit from these sources of federal funding. AACN hopes that this information will help Congress better understand the need for additional funding and more importantly the vital role nurses play in our nation's healthcare delivery system.
