Proclamation from the Office of the Governor

AUXILIARY OF UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND HOSPITAL DAY
MAY 13, 1987

- WHEREAS, The greatest gift is the gift of caring, and for over an entire century the proud members of the Auxiliary of University of Maryland Hospital have been tremendous believers of this truth by nobly striving to positively touch the lives of patients and their families; and
- WHEREAS, From a heralded mission of service which started with responsibilities including caring for the linens and keeping up with hospital supplies, the Auxiliary was sparked by "a call to serve" and went on to work for the good of the patients in a variety of important and essential ways; and
- WHEREAS, From holding fundraising activities and other charitable events to lobbying for a new, modern hospital, past Auxiliary members have left behind a warmly-cherished tradition of devotion and commitment... and today their followers continue the Auxiliary's mission by running a highly-successful gift shop, an annual bargain bazaar, fashion shows and art sales; and
- WHEREAS, Maryland is pleased to join in congratulating each and every one of the dedicated members of the University of Maryland Hospital Auxiliary as they continue to enhance the lives of the patients they serve.
- NOW, THEREFORE, I, WILLIAM DONALD SCHAEFER, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, do hereby proclaim May 13, 1987 as AUXILIARY OF UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND HOSPITAL DAY in Maryland, and do urge all citizens to commend this Auxiliary on a century of outstanding work and caring.

Given Under My Hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland,
