

Oncology Center Honors Concerned Citizen

Beth Tfiloh School camp counselor Anne Levin (right), received an award from the Oncology Center for her role in saving the life of three-year old Alex Brown (center.)

Anne was Alex's camp counselor when she noticed that his stomach was distended. She notified Alex's parents, and they immediately took him to their pediatrician. The diagnosis was Wilm's Tumor, and young Alex was swiftly transferred to our Pediatric Oncology Division. His cancer was caught with no time to spare. "It was just about to spread to other organs," according to Dr. Curt Civin. Alex recently finished chemotherapy, and his prognosis is very good. "There is no question that Anne Levin saved Alex's life," says Dr. Civin (left) who presented her with the Oncology Center award.
