

Good morning,

Because my neighborhood does a lot of services for the community already with being part of our community association which my husband is the president of. We have cleanup days, have a garden club for the elderly, writing grants to have trees planted along with the beautification of the area and having meetings to hear concerns which I am a part of. I could not pin point one hour of what to do today. I am also the personal care giver now of my sister who is home now but was hospitalized for nearly six months and has been weakened by the Coronavirus Virus.

With that being said. I did see something that caught my eye and that was to put up bird feeders. My daughter and I have noticed some beautiful birds that seem to like our deck so we put up one and now will do bird watching. We will add more eventually. Of course the birds are using it as a perch and ignoring the food but we will see what happens.
