

Camp Columbia, Cuba,

February 28h 1901.

My dear Jennie:

I was disappointed at not receiving a letter from you yesterday but perhaps it will come tomorrow. This being Thursday no mail arrived today.

This was the last of the month but I shall not be paid until tomorrow. I am still waiting for that extra compensation and I shall make inquiries in the morning. Just as soon as I get that I shall apply for my passage back.

There is no news of any interest so I shall write again before I leave.

With love & kisses for all

Your affect Husband

James.
