

The "Common" Chemical Universe

We recorded 2509 common atom environments significant to diverse chemical communities in three languages: Skeletal, IUPAC, & CHARMM General ForceField Atom Types.

This helps us answer the question: in a near infinite chemical space how do we select the smallest set of compounds that best represent the chemical universe?

