

Like Steve, I focused on trash.

I picked up trash along Old Annapolis Road in suburban Howard County. I did a quarter mile stretch, on the shady side because I forgot sunscreen.

My pictures are:

1. My weapons of trash pickup
2. The results of trash pickup
3. My sweaty overheated face!

Things I learned:

Beverages of choice - Bud Light, Jameson's Irish whiskey, and lots of miniatures!

Don't open a plastic bottle with a fluid in it that has been out in the sun. It sprays on you causing you to gag and take a second shower.

Don't pick up trash on a 90 degree day at noon - sweat dripping off your nose is not becoming! Find an indoor activity.

Most interesting thing I found - a golf ball

What I am most grateful for?

Gloves

My pincher gadget from the Air and Space Museum

I didn't find any dead animals

That I am not a trash collector

That I had an opportunity to do this.

Now I have to do the other side of the road.

Thanks everybody!
