UNIVERSITY of MARYLAND
SCHOOL OF NURSING

PROFESSIONAL NURSING PLEDGE

With full knowledge of the responsibilities I am undertaking, I promise to care for my patients with all the knowledge, skills, and understanding I possess, sparing no effort to conserve meaningful life, to alleviate suffering, and to promote health. I will always keep my professional knowledge and skills at the highest level, collaborate as a member of the health care team, and strive to improve the health and well-being of all those I serve.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND SCHOOL OF NURSING CEREMONIAL MACE

Ceremonial maces are ornamental staffs made of wood and metal that are carried by an honored designee at graduation or other significant university events. The mace is a focal point of the beginning and ending processions. The School of Nursing's mace was presented to the School at Convocation 2014 by Jay A. Perman, MD, president of the University of Maryland, Baltimore (UMB), as part of the School's 125th anniversary celebration.

The School of Nursing's mace was crafted by Bruce Jarrell, MD, FACS, chief academic and research officer, senior vice president, and dean of the Graduate School at UMB, with the assistance of his daughter, Gwynneth, BSN '06. The walnut staff is topped with a bronze and copper replica of the School of Nursing Alumni pin. The design of the steel mace holder is based on elements of the Maryland state flag and was created by Ukrainian blacksmith Anatoily Rudek and Dr. Jarrell. The oak and ebony base was crafted by Dr. Jarrell's sister, Bess Naylor, a UMB alumna who received a master's degree from the School of Medicine in 1977. When not in use, the mace is prominently displayed in the School of Nursing lobby.

*Senior Vice President, CareFirst Patient-Centered Medical Home Program
CareFirst BlueCross BlueShield*

Jennifer Baldwin is senior vice president of the CareFirst Patient-Centered Medical Home (PCMH) Program, which is the cornerstone of CareFirst's Total Cost and Care Improvement Initiative. The PCMH Program offers primary care providers with financial reimbursement and incentives, clinical resources to focus on the most chronically ill patients, and analytic tools and support to manage population health trends. During Baldwin's tenure as program leader, PCMH has grown in impact and avoided an estimated $1.2 billion in costs while improving outcomes. As a result of the program's success, she gained responsibility for executing a $24-million grant CareFirst received from the Center for Medicare and Medicaid Innovation, which was one of the largest grants awarded and the only one awarded to a payer. Baldwin is responsible for a field team of more than 300 nurses, 22 program consultants, and 20 regional care directors all working to reach more than 4,000 primary care providers and 1 million members participating in the PCMH Program.

Prior to joining CareFirst, Baldwin held numerous leadership positions including chief nurse executive at Kaiser Permanente, area administrator at Kaiser, senior vice president for patient care and services at Holy Cross Hospital, chief nurse executive at Holy Cross Hospital, assistant vice president at Inova, and five years in policy staff roles with the federal government. Baldwin holds a Master of Public Administration from The George Washington University and a Bachelor of Science in Nursing from Villanova University.
